

The bright lines you see on the face of this hologram are not scratches. They are Highlights. They were left to preserve the integrity of the high gloss ceramic from which the face is made.

The bright lines you see on the face of this hologram are not scratches. They are Highlights. They were left to preserve the integrity of the high gloss ceramic from which the face is made.

The bright lines you see on the face of this hologram are not scratches. They are Highlights. They were left to preserve the integrity of the high gloss ceramic from which the face is made.

The bright lines you see on the face of this hologram are not scratches. They are Highlights. They were left to preserve the integrity of the high gloss ceramic from which the face is made.

The bright lines you see on the face of this hologram are not scratches. They are Highlights. They were left to preserve the integrity of the high gloss ceramic from which the face is made.

The bright lines you see on the face of this hologram are not scratches. They are Highlights. They were left to preserve the integrity of the high gloss ceramic from which the face is made.