
Update From Chicago

CHICAGO — The hard-core members of the Windy City holographic community get together on the first Sunday of every month to talk shop and voice other concerns. Labeling themselves the "Chicago Holographic Cooperative", this not for profit organization provides a much needed positive forum for communication and education for local holographers and those passing through. Co-op members Tom Cvetkovich, Larry Lieberman, Steve Smith and Ed Wesley spoke about their specialities at Dr. Tung Jeong's successful Holography Workshops at Lake Forest College this past summer.

Putting holography in the eye of Chi-Town is another goal of the loosely knot group, with the construction of a gallery in a recently acquired 114 year old firehouse. A small group show was held in September at a suburban library, and a larger show has been arranged at the well-trafficked Cultural Center of the downtown Chicago Public Library during July and August of 1984.

Holographers should address inquiries regarding the library show or the gallery space to: Chicago Holographic Cooperative, 114 North Aberdeen Street, Chicago, IL 60607. (312) 733 - 5462.
